Supervisors applying for recreation facility improvements funding

BY DENA BISNETTE

The Hancock County Board of Supervisors has agreed to try to obtain Bureau of Outdoor Recreation funding for improvement of three baseball parks.

At a public hearing during Monday's board meeting, Jeff Taylor of South Mississippi Planning and Development District told the board that Friday is the deadline for a preliminary application and that a general proposal would have to be submitted as part of the preapplication.

During an informal discussion after the meeting, the board agreed to request monies to improve playgrounds at Kiln Community Center and Ballpark in Beat Four and Pearlington Community Park in Beat Two, where land has been acquired for a ballpark but has not yet been developed.

In addition, the project will include improvements at Fenton Community Center and Ballpark in Beat Five.

Taylor said a maximum of $45,000 is available but the county would have to provide an equal amount of matching funds for whatever sum is obtained.

Taylor added that the county must have title to any property involved in such a grant project.

In a related matter, Taylor requested that the board write a letter to Bob Martin of the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers requesting expedition of a study on shore protection for Hancock County.

The board is already funding the two-year study, which County Engineer Larry Seal stated he found was behind schedule during his most recent conference with Martin.

Seal said he has asked Martin to attend the board's Dec. 7 meeting in order to provide the supervisors with an explanation.

The study was initiated with the intention of using the findings to obtain as much as $12 million in grant funds to repair the beach and seawall with an emphasis on shore protection rather than recreation.

However, Taylor has stated that the congressman who was providing the major force behind the project, Senator John Stennis, has announced his retirement.

He said he feels the board should act as soon as possible because it is not known how new representation will affect the possibility of obtaining grant funding.

No action was taken Monday because the board members wanted to confirm whether Martin plans to attend the Dec. 7 meeting.

CHILDREN HELP to decorate a Christmas tree in the lobby of the Coast Electric Power Association building on US-90, as Coast Electric employee Alice Ladner bends to assist a Waveland kindergarten student with his decoration. About 70 children in Waveland Elementary School's kindergarten classes brought handmade decorations for the tree Tuesday. Ladner said this is the first year that the employees have used this method of holiday decorating and said inviting the children is likely to become an annual Christmas event. (Staff photo by Dena Bisnette)

Five arrested in drug incidents

BY DENA BISNETTE

Five people have been arrested on drug-related charges. All involving marijuana, in three separate incidents.

According to Hancock County

Sheriff's Department Investigator Glen Strong, three of the people were Hancock County residents and two were from out-of-state.

All five were arrested on Tuesday. Strong said Phillip DiSalvo, 20, was arrested at his residence on Harbor Drive and was charged with possession of a controlled substance with intent to distribute.

Dawn Bourgeois, 18, was arrested with DiSalvo on the same charges. Strong said both had been released on $5,000 bond each.

In a separate incident, Kenneth Sutterfield, 30, of 323 Ballentine St., Bay St. Louis, was arrested and charged with possession of a controlled substance (marijuana) with intent to distribute, the investigator said.

Bond for Sutterfield was set at $5,000.

Two other arrests were made by security guards at NASA's National Space Technology Laboratories on Tuesday.

Strong reported that Grover Schmitt of Lynchburg, Va., and Michael Reynolds of Forest, Va., were charged with possession of marijuana and jailed on $1,000 bond each.

The investigator said the two were truck drivers delivering supplies to NSTL and were not employed at the site.

Santa, McGruff to appear at benefit matinee Saturday

Santa Claus and McGruff the Crime Dog will welcome children to a benefit matinee Saturday about 9:30 a.m. At Cinema IV in Waveland's Choctaw Plaza.

Admission will be free for those who bring a canned food item, which will be donated to a needy family for Christmas.

OFFICIALS TALK—Representatives of various government bodies in Hancock County met Monday to discuss ways to improve services and save money through consolidation of efforts. The group decided to do more investigating on the effect of any type of consolidation and that long range planning is needed. No other action was taken. In on a discussion after the

Port and Harbor commission questions airport operations

By BRENDA HEATHCOCK

The Hancock County Port and Harbor Commission will meet in January with representatives of Inovair International again regarding its lease at Stennis International Airport.

The January meeting was scheduled Monday at a special meeting of the commission to talk with William Carson of Inovair and Attorney Christopher Wood of Gulfport.

The commission requested Inovair provide answers to several questions regarding operations at Stennis in early November and at Monday's meeting Inovair representatives had some answers.

However during most of the meeting there were clashes between Carson and Port and Harbor commission representatives.

"I am being picked on," Carlson told the group.

Information requested by the commission was in regard to minimum requirements as outlined in the lease contract, specifically provisions for aircraft maintenance and flight instruction at Stennis.

In a letter to the commission, Wood said "maintenance of aircraft is not presently being provided because there is no demand for maintenance of aircraft at the present time."

But in an effort to conform with the lease negotiations are presently on-going to contract with a group to provide on-site maintenance, he continued.

Wood also stated negotiations are on-going with various individuals about providing flight instruction.

"Mr. Carlson has attempted to comply with the lease as best he can and is trying to come under complete compliance in these areas," he said.

"If he is required to provide rental aircraft or flight instruction then he proposes that this will be provided," Wood said.

"Mr. Carlson does not want to have any kind of adverse relations with anyone and if at all possible if there are areas he can't conform there will be some negotiations in the least to try and compromise the non-conformance with either a financial consideration or with the demands of the facility," he added.

"If there is something in the contract that is not either economically feasible for a fixed based operator to do or alternatively there is not a demand for then maybe it shouldn't be in the contract," Wood said.

Carlson stated in the meeting on-site maintenance is not currently available at Stennis but there have been no requests recently and one man can be brought in whenever

CHRISTMAS PARADE

Residents of several streets are being asked to leave their front porch lights on along the route for the annual Hancock County Chamber of Commerce Christmas parade.

The parade is set for 7 p.m. Thursday and will kick off the Bay St. Louis Downtown Merchants Association's Olde Towne Christmas.

The parade route includes parts of Touline, Main and Second streets and Beach Boulevard, a spokesperson for the merchants association said.

ADULT EDUCATION

Adult Basic Education and GED classes meet Tuesday and Thursday evenings from 6:30 p.m. or 7:30-9 p.m. each week at Gulfport High School, 100 Perry Street.

Classes for 8th grade and below are free of charge; 9th grade and above is $25 for each ten-week session. Students frequently make one year of progress each ten weeks.

If you have not completed high school or need additional help in math, English, science or social studies, contact Community Education at 896-8978 for further information.

OLA EXAM

The entrance exam for Our Lady Academy will be at the Bay Catholic Elementary School cafeteria on Saturday, Dec. 5 at 10 a.m.

All girls who are interested in attending Our Lady Academy next year need to take the test. Testing will be completed by 11 a.m. There is a $2 fee payable when you take the test.

While prospective students are taking the OLA entrance test, a program will be presented by the administration to the parents on OLA's philosophy, goals and procedures. The presentation will be held in Room 7. Parents will have the opportunity to ask questions and take a tour of the facilities.

CANNED GOODS DRIVE

Orange Grove Chiropractic Clinic's first annual Canned Goods Drive will be Saturday, Dec. 12 from 8:30 a.m. to 5 p.m. at the clinic on 12083 Hwy. 49 North.

All services will be done that day for canned goods to be donated to the Salvation Army and First Baptist Church.

For an appointment or information call 832-6378.

FIRE PERMITS

The Waveland Fire Department has temporarily discontinued issuing fire permits in the city.

Fire Chief David Garcia said dry conditions have made it unsafe to burn at this time.

CHRISTMAS CONCERT

The instrumental music department of the Bay St. Louis-Waveland School District will present a Christmas concert Tuesday.

The event will begin at 7 p.m. at the Bay Junior High auditorium.

NET MENDING WORKSHOP

Mississippi Sea Grant Advisory Service, in conjunction with the Jackson County Office of Mississippi Cooperative Extension Service, will conduct a free net mending or trawl repair workshop.

The program will be held on Thursday, Dec. 17, beginning at 7 p.m. at the National Marine Fisheries Service Pascagoula Laboratories.

Workshop participants will need to bring some scrap webbing, a net needle of the appropriate size and a knife for trimming. Attendance will be limited to 20 or 25 so everyone can get individual attention if needed.

For information or to reserve a spot call 388-4710 in Biloxi or 769-3047 in Pascagoula.

Personal and investment interest expenses partially deductible in 1987

Tax planning is important to you every year, but particularly in 1987 when the new tax law takes effect, says Tully Miller, IRS District Director. One popular itemized deduction of prior years—personal interest expenses—will be only partially available for 1987 and completely phased out by 1991.

Both personal and investment interest are affected, according to Miller. For 1987, you will be able to deduct only 65 percent of personal interest as an itemized deduction. Personal interest includes interest on such items as car loans and credit card balances. Personal interest on debt secured by your home or a second home is fully deductible with certain restrictions.

Generally, the debt must not exceed the purchase price of your home plus the cost of any improvements. Any interest on excess debt is deductible only for educational or medical expenses. The remaining excess interest is subject to the 65 percent limitation.

Investment interest generally is interest paid or accrued on money borrowed to buy or carry investment property. Investment interest expense up to the amount of net investment income (investment income less investment expenses, other than interest is fully deductible.

If you have investment interest in 1987 that is more than your net investment income, that excess interest is subject to the 65 percent limitation that also applies to personal interest. Excess investment interest not deducted in 1987 because of the limit can be carried forward to 1988 and treated as investment interest in that year.

More information is in free IRS Publication 920, "Explanation of the Tax Reform Act of 1986 for Individuals," which can be ordered by writing to the IRS Forms Distribution Center, P.O. Box 9903, Bloomington, IL 61799, or by calling toll-free 1-800-424-3676.

DOCTOR WHO

"My original idea was to have an irascible, absent-minded, unpredictable old man, running away from his own planet in a time machine, which looked like a police box on the outside but was in fact a large space station inside, and which he really didn't know how to operate so he was always ending up in the wrong place and time. We called him Doctor Who, because no one knew who he was, where he came from, what he was running away from and where he was headed." So says the creator of the now legendary "Doctor Who" television series.

"What the BBC's Sidney Newman probably didn't realize, however, was that his brainchild would someday become the longest-running science fiction program in history, would be the most successful British television import ever and would inspire loyal viewers of all ages throughout the world.

It is for the millions of fans that the Doctor Who Celebration and Tour was organized. The fans now have an opportunity to see the monsters the Doctor battled and see his memorabilia from 25 years of time travel, including "Bessie," the vintage yellow car created for Jon Pertwee, the third actor to portray the Doctor.

The Doctor Who Celebration and Tour will arrive in Jackson at Mississippi ETV on Saturday, Dec. 5. Fans may tour a 48-foot traveling theater filled with "living" monsters and villains from noon until 8 p.m. and on Sunday, Dec. 6, from noon until 6 p.m. Fans need have no fear about the monsters threatening earth however; the good Doctor will be on hand to keep them in their place.

The "dandiest" Doctor of them all, Jon Pertwee, will be on hand both days to sign autographs and answer "Doctor Who" fans' questions. Souvenirs will be available, and there will be a $5 admission charge, which is payable at the door. Mississippi ETV is located at 3825 Ridgewood Road in northeast Jackson.

Pass Christian man wins Navy award

By Colleen Pegram

Harry Peters of Pass Christian has been named company honorman for Recruit Company 110 at the Navy's Recruit Training Command here.

Peters, the 28-year-old husband of Pass Christian resident Odalis Peters, was selected for the prestigious award from among the 71 recruits in his company who graduated from boot camp Aug. 25.

"Honorman is more than just a title," says Peters. "I'm very happy I was selected because it's not an appointed award. It's voted on by my entire company."

The honorman distinction is given to the recruit who displays the highest standards of personal character, attention to detail, academic achievement, and leadership ability.

"My father was in the service for 20 years," says Peters, "so I grew up in a military environment."

The difference in attitude within the military is very noticeable, according to Peters.

"I know I would like for me and my family to live the rest of our lives in the military community," says Peters.

RECRUIT HONORMAN—Harry Peters of Pass Christian has been named company honorman for Recruit Company 110 at the Navy's Recruit Training Command in San Diego. He is the husband of Pass Christian resident Odalis Peters and a 1976 graduate of a Louisiana high school.

needed.

"People know that someone is not immediately available at Stennis and maybe this is why there have not been any requests recently," said Commissioner Nancy Gex, chairman of the Airport Committee.

Carlson also stated there have never been any requests for flight instruction at the airport but he is still trying to get someone who can provide this service.

The lack of the services was caused when Inovair lost a corporate customer in March, according to Carlson.

"If we can generate one corporate customer we would be back in business the way we were," he said.

"We have tried to cooperate and work with the commission but you will not work with us," he added.

"Not one thing has been done to the airport facilities the entire time we have been there," Carlson continued.

He listed several problems with the facilities including heating and air conditioning problems, broken hangar door rollers, a front door which will not lock and "stinking" bathrooms.

Commission Attorney Robert Genin suggested Carlson check the lease documents because Inovair is responsible for the normal maintenance and janitorial services.

In addition to this Genin read from the lease, "lessee agrees to pay costs of normal day-to-day repairs and or replacements necessary for the operation of the lease hold."

Carlson also said although he pays the commission rent on the hangar building, commission supplies are stored there.

"All of these things we have tried to accommodate you people and all you do is nit pick," he said.

Genin then stated 90 percent of the problem is probably personality and that the commission has several complaints on the way they were treated at the airport.

"We have seen this personality problem here as we ask civil questions and all we get back is snarls," Genin said.

Maybe there will be improvements if the public is provided pleasant service, he added.

"The primary purpose of the airport is to serve the Hancock County citizens," Commissioner Russell Elliot said.

Maybe if nothing else there will be better lines of communication after this meeting, he said.

The commission will conduct its regular monthly meeting Dec. 15 and will meet again with Inovair representatives in January.

Working together many things can be accomplished

The Mississippi Supreme Court in 1980 mandated reappraisal in each of the state's 82 counties.

We in Hancock County were very fortunate in having a tax collector-assessor and board of supervisors who set out to work together in accomplishing the mandated reappraisal.

It was decided by our county's leaders along with our tax collector-assessor that an 'in-house' reappraisal would be the best route to take on this very important task.

During and upon the completion of Hancock County's reappraisal, our county received numerous plaudits from across the state.

Working together and doing reappraisal 'in-house', cost Hancock County under $1 million for some 47,000 parcels of land.

In neighboring Harrison County, with under 100,000 parcels of land, an audit report shows costs at over $5 million for that county's reappraisal. This is not to mention the fact that it was the last county in the state to complete reappraisal, and several cities' governments were unhappy with a late tax collection.

Sure, there were some small mistakes made when Hancock County's reappraisal was being done but they were recognized and immediately corrected.

The big plus was that they were able to sit down and openly discuss the problems and come up with sensible and workable solutions.

There were a few items which our people were unable to do during reappraisal, such as aerial photography, and our supervisors gave the tax collector-assessor the authority to hire the right people to do the job.

Now our reappraisal records are up to date and Hancock County has a trained staff to keep these records up to date with only a little help such as on computer programming.

It is good when a county has leaders who can work together and accomplish the almost impossible task.

Hats off to Hancock County's leaders who decided years ago to do an 'in-house' reappraisal such as Edward Murtagh, assessor-tax collector; Supervisors A.A. (Dolph) Kellar, James Travirca, Sam Pernicaro, Bert Courrege, and Roger Dale Ladner, along with past board attorney U.S. Federal Judge Walter Gex III.

The benefits of the 'in-house' reappraisal in Hancock County should be reaped for many years to come.

News from

Governor Bill Allain

Mississippi will celebrate its 170th birthday Thursday, Dec. 10 with "A Taste of Mississippi" at the Trade Mart Building in Jackson.

Gov. Bill Allain has invited all Mississippians to join the Statehood Day celebration which will feature food producers from all across the state displaying their products and providing "tastes" of their food and beverages. "A Taste of Mississippi" opens at 10 a.m. and will close at 2 p.m.

"I want to encourage every citizen of our State to join in this annual celebration," Gov. Allain said. "We will be celebrating not only the progress but also the people."

Attache' Show Choir from Clinton High School and the Sims Brothers Band will provide entertainment. A noon program will include recognition of the Mississippi Ambassadors and an opportunity for those attending to become Ambassadors to help promote the state.

Initiated last year on Statehood Day, the Mississippi Ambassador Program has enlisted over 11,500 members. Any Mississippian interested in telling others about the good things happening in our state can sign up to become an Ambassador. There is no charge to join and the program is supported through private contributions.

Under the direction of Winona Costello, Attache' has been the Grand Champion, Winner of Opryland's American Music Festival in Nashville for two years, the Tara Show Choir Festival in Dixie in Baton Rouge for three years and the International Music Festival in Orlando. The group has traveled throughout the state performing for many civic, church and fraternal organizations, various conventions and musical workshops.

The Sims Brothers Band is a contemporary country group that has performed across the state as the official Mississippi Ambassador Band. Their current single release from Offspring Records is "I'm All Yours Tonight" and "Falling All Over Again." They have performed on college campuses as well as the State Fair and Western Festival.

The Sims Brothers Band is from Star and includes Shaine Sims, Rodney Sims, Jeremy Sims, Mark Morgan and Butch Owens.

Statehood Day is open to the public and there is no admission charge.

The sheriff's office at this time of the year receives numerous complaints about persons hunting on posted lands and also close to residences.

Much of the land in Hancock County is posted by landowners.

In some instances gates have been left open while fences have also been reported being cut by hunters, and this is illegal.

A few hunters sometimes leave their dogs in the woods and this causes problems.

We have even heard in previous years where cattle have been mistakenly killed by hunters.

It is hoped that everyone will respect the property of others while hunting.

Don't forget, the Annual Hancock County Chamber of Commerce's Christmas parade is tonight at 7 p.m. in Bay St. Louis.

Santa will be available to take children's Christmas wishes.

We hope to see you at the Christmas parade.

The announcement by NASA on Tuesday leaving out Martin Marietta on the space station contracts was not liked by many local officials and residents.

As many of you know, there is a sizeable number of residents in Hancock County who work for Martin Marietta and this would have been a big boost to our area if they had been successful in their bid for NASA's contract.

Our leaders should not give up and play 'dead' because of the loss to the big contract; it means our leaders will have to work harder to find job opportunities for our citizens.

We are hearing about big possibilities coming from The National Space Technology Laboratories.

Jerry Hlass, director at NSTL, will be the featured speaker at the Hancock County Chamber of Commerce's Annual Christmas banquet scheduled for Dec. 11.

It is our understanding Hlass will report on major future programs at NSTL in addition to the status of the Shuttle's return to flight.

For reservations call the chamber at 467-9048.

Eyes on Mississippi

By Bill Minor

One of former Gov. William Winter's "boys of spring" has been elected the state governor. Now, can another of his "boys" be elected as the state's next United States Senator?

During Winter's administration his young assistants, dubbed by the press as the "boys of spring," had included Ray Mabus, the governor-elect, and Dick Molpus, the present secretary of state, who has visions of being elected to the U.S. Senate in 1988.

The 38-year-old Molpus has made public his intentions to run for the Senate seat being vacated by Sen. John C. Stennis, but he must qualify by Jan. 8, 1988, which is only one day after he is sworn in for a new four-year term as secretary of state.

Molpus does not have to resign from his job as secretary of state in order to run for the Senate in the March 8 Democratic primary, and that is precisely what he plans to do. The general election for the Senate seat doesn't take place until nine months later, on Nov. 8.

Consequently, should Molpus win the Democratic nomination, it would mean that he would be campaigning for the Senate almost the entire year while continuing to serve as secretary of state.

Already Molpus is getting some public backlash over his plans. Several letters to newspapers have criticized him for seeking another office immediately after the people re-elected him secretary of state.

Molpus has his campaign machinery virtually in place for the Senate campaign after taking advantage of an easy campaign this past summer to hone his organization, raise money and get his data bank in readiness, on the possibility the Senate seat would come open.

As his campaign manager, Molpus is bringing on board David Crews, another of the "boys of spring" in the Winter administration. Crews, who had been Winter's press secretary, is giving up a highly-paid job as director of development at the University Medical Center to work in the Molpus campaign.

Molpus' finance chairman will be Jackson industrialist Warren Hood, a longtime close friend of Molpus' late father, Richard Molpus, Sr. Hood had been one of Winter's key advisers and campaign contributors.

The Molpus camp is particularly sanguine about a poll done the last part of October which showed Molpus with a significantly higher positive/negative ratio than Fourth District Cong. Wayne Dowdy, his toughest foe for the Democratic Senatorial nomination.

It also gave Molpus a better positive/negative ratio than Fifth District Cong. Trent Lott, who is expected to be the Republican standard bearer in the Nov. 8 general election.

Done by Hickman-Maslin Research, the polling firm that worked for the Mabus campaign, the survey gave Molpus a 6.5/1 positive to negative rating against a 2.8/1 rating for Dowdy.

Matched against Lott, Molpus had a 7.1/1 positive-negative rating as compared to a 5.6/1 for Lott. In recognition level, Molpus was higher than Lott in three of the five regions of the state, with Lott showing a higher recognition only in southeastern Mississippi.

However, an Oct. 22-25 poll by Mason-Dixon Research among Democratic candidates showed Dowdy ahead of Molpus, 18 percent to 10 percent, with 32 percent undecided and the rest scattered among four other possible candidates.

Dowdy, whose upset election to Congress in 1981 came with heavy support from black voters, apparently would be the strong favorite to get the black vote against Molpus in the Democratic Senatorial primary.

Among blacks only, the Mason-Dixon poll had Dowdy holding a 20 to 8 margin over Molpus, with 37 percent undecided and 35 percent scattered among other possible candidates.

Molpus' chances could suffer as a result of the presidential preferential primary being held in Mississippi on March 8, the same day as the Senatorial primary.

A good part of Molpus' backing among business people and white middle class voters may skip the Democratic primary in order to vote in the Republican presidential primary.

At the same time, blacks would be expected to be drawn to Jesse Jackson's presidential bid and vote in the Democratic primary, thereby boosting Dowdy's Senatorial chances.

Small-business Angle

by John Sloan

Parental leave: too costly, disruptive for small firms

Sponsors called it a compromise, but the parental leave legislation reported out of the House Education and Labor Committee Nov. 10 was nothing of the sort.

This latest attempt to regulate employer-employee relations would guarantee workers in firms with 50 or more employees unpaid leave to take care of new babies, sick children or elderly parents.

Proponents say it is a compromise because it exempts almost 95 percent of the nation's businesses.

In the same breath, one of the sponsors, Rep. Patricia Schroeder, D-Colo., said at a news conference, "American families are in as much trouble as the stock market, yet all we have given them is lip service."

If that is the case, what about the people who work for the 95 percent of the country's firms who are not covered by this proposed legislation? The 50-employee minimum is merely a facade to mask the real intent of the bill's sponsors (Reps. Marge Roukema, R-N.J., Bill Clay, D-Mo., and Schroeder).

In the third year of the legislation, the bill would require firms with 35 or more employees to provide parental leave. After that, it will be but a matter of time before amendments are added to cover employees in all firms.

This proposal is neither a compromise nor a reasonable solution to the problem the sponsors decry. In fact, the National Federation of Independent Business conducted a survey among its 500,000 members recently and found that more than 70 percent already have some arrangement with employees to provide leave for the birth of a child or serious family emergencies.

Small-business owners do not oppose the concept of leave for employees with special needs. They do resent the intrusion of government into the employer-employee contract.

To refute arguments by business organizations that the parental leave package would cost billions of dollars when fully enacted, sponsors produced a report by the General Accounting Office saying it would cost a mere $188 million a year.

That GAO report is seriously flawed and does a disservice to those who are concerned about the drain mandated benefits would place on a fragile economy.

The GAO study surveyed only 80 firms in two labor markets. (There are more than 5 million small businesses in the country!)

The study did not include in its estimates the costs of unemployment insurance, training costs for replacement employees or the value of productivity lost due to disruptions in the work flow.

It is apparent to business owners that the cost would be far greater than the GAO estimate.

The concept of mandated parental leave is economically unsound. It is also discriminatory, favoring one group of employees over others.

It will cause serious disruptions within smaller firms as employers seek to substitute for employees by assigning overtime to other workers or hiring less experienced replacements.

Small-business owners, examining the impact of the legislation on their firms, say with near unanimity it would almost certainly eliminate jobs, bankrupt companies and, in the long run, ensure the downhill slide of our national competitiveness.

Ballet Magnificat to give free performance in Jackson

THE SEA COAST ECHO—THURSDAY, DECEMBER 3, 1987-5A

Ballet Magnificat, Mississippi's busiest dance company, will present two performances at the Jackson Municipal Auditorium on Saturday, Dec. 19 (7:30 p.m.) and Sunday, Dec. 20 (2:30 p.m.), according to Co-Director Kathy Thibodeaux.

The special holiday appearances are dubbed "Celebrate His Life," and admission to the event is free. Those attending are encouraged to bring canned food items for collection, and an offering will be taken to help cover costs.

Although just over one year old, Ballet Magnificat has presented more than one hundred performances from West Palm Beach, Florida, to Newark, New Jersey, to Anaheim, California. The response has been outstanding.

So much so, that the performing schedule for their second year, is even busier.

Performances in the last three months have taken them to Alabama, Georgia, New Jersey, North Carolina, Oklahoma, Virginia and all over the state of Mississippi; and the company will be returning to the West Coast for a tour in January and February of next year.

"Celebrate His Life" will include at least two favorites from the company's repertoire: "Festival of Carols" will be repeated from last December's Municipal Auditorium debut; and "In Celebration of Creation" will be restaged for the Auditorium stage.

The remainder of the program is still to be announced.

The company will again employ its unique method of eliminating lengthy intermissions by having the dancers share thoughts and testimonies during the program allowing the audience a more personal view of the art form.

"Festival of Carols" is a joyful balletic rendition of season favorites which celebrate the true meaning of Christmas. Because it was premiered last December in their first major Jackson performances, and because it was done to seasonal music, it is probably the least known of any of the works the company does.

However, the message of the season provides a reason for some of the most colorful and exciting dancing that the company does.

"In Celebration of Creation" has proven an audience favorite where ever it has been performed. The music of John Michael Talbot provides an ethereal background for this dance of celebration, and provides the company with a classical trademark.

These performances at the auditorium culminate a busy month for the company with other holiday appearances in December scheduled for: Gulfport (4th); Forest (5th); Greenwood (6th); Tulsa, OK (8th & 9th); Grove, OK (11th & 12th); Norman, OK (13th); and Canton, MS (16th).

Following a two-week holiday break, the company then prepares for seven weeks on tour in California and Nevada, with a possible ten-day trip to Hawaii still in the planning stages.

According to Gregory Smith, the company's other Co-Director, the West Coast tour will include twenty-five to thirty performances in churches, schools, auditoriums and other performing venues.

Although there is no admission charge, Ballet Magnificat is encouraging all those who come to bring one or more items of canned food for each of those attending. There will be collection bins in the lobby and this food will be distributed to agencies in Jackson to help make the holidays better for those less fortunate.

Seating will be on a first-come, first-served basis, and the doors will open forty-five minutes prior to the performance time.

For more information or any questions, call Ballet Magnificat at 968-8704.

Special programs highlight December

A variety of special activities and programs are scheduled for the month of December at Davis Bayou area of Gulf Islands National Seashore, located in Ocean Springs, Superintendent Jerry Eubanks announced.

The programs begin on Sunday, Dec. 6 at 2 p.m. at the William Colmer Visitor Center, when park volunteer Marjorie Bryan will present a one-hour program on Wildflower Folklore.

On Saturday, Dec. 12 at 2 p.m., Gulf Islands National Seashore and Eastern National Park and Monument Association will host the annual Holiday Open House.

The Community Open House will feature a holiday tree with decorations provided by the art students of Taconi Elementary School, Ocean Springs and a nature photography exhibit.

The holiday decorations and nature photographs will feature the designs and shapes of the seashore's plants, animals and seascapes.

"The Holiday Open House is an annual community event and we look forward to the public joining in the celebration and recognition of the efforts of the students and photographers who are participating in the event," said Eubanks.

The special activities continue with a series of guided hikes scheduled to begin on Sunday, Dec. 13 with the Water's Edge Hike, followed by the Kid's Wilderness Survival Hike on Sunday, Dec. 20 and concluding on Sunday Dec. 27 with a Photo Hike. All of the guided hikes begin at 2 p.m. from the William Colmer Visitor Center located in Ocean Springs.

All activities are free of charge and open to the public. For more information on these and other interpretive activities available through the Davis Bayou area of Gulf Islands National Seashore, phone (601) 875-0821.

Stanislaus to administer placement test

Brother Paul Montero, principal of St. Stanislaus High School, reported the school will administer its placement test for incoming day students for the 1988-89 school session.

This placement test will take place at 9 a.m. on Saturday, Dec. 5, in the school's resource center. Students wishing to take this placement test should contact the school office at 467-9057 prior to the Dec. 5 testing.

Stanislaus, a boarding and day school for boys, has a non-discriminatory policy and accepts students regardless of race, creed, and color.

Canadian silver jewelry exhibit set

An exhibit of silver jewelry created by one of Canada's best-known artists will be shown during December at the University of Southern Mississippi.

Some 19 pieces of Elma Johnston McKay's recent work will be exhibited through Dec. 7 in the Lok Lobby.

The show—"One History, Three Cultures: A Celebration in Silver"—represents many months of McKay's dedicated artistry and personal insights in interpreting some of the lore and legend of her native New Brunswick.

"It has been a joy to see the suite of (McKay's) work grow, and reflect in its gleaming silver so many of the qualities which reinforce the fact that New Brunswick craft is one of the most important elements in both our historical and contemporary culture," reads the catalogue text accompanying the show.

"McKay, through her skill, presents us with a distillation of those characteristics which make us what we are as New Brunswickers—hard workers, strong, skillful and overlaid with a wry sense of humor," the text concludes.

The Lok Lobby is located between USM's Performing Arts Center and Marsh Auditorium. The show opened with an exhibit of paintings by Mississippi Gulf Coast artists J.J. Foley, Kat Fitzpatrick and Terry Blake Nov. 17.

Hours for both exhibits are from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. weekdays, and 2-4 p.m. on Sundays (during scheduled shows only).

"The most unique shopping experience in South Mississippi"

BY
MC GUIRE
CAIRE

A gift from the kitchen is a gift from the heart these busy weeks before Christmas, isn't it? For that reason, many of us will be busy in coming days cooking up tasty edibles for family and friends to say "Merry Christmas" in a personal way.

One of my friends is famous in our group for brownies, another for gourmet mustards and condiments, still another for cookies—and so it goes, from each his or her own specialty for sharing with friends at Yuletide.

Pecans are such a part of Christmas in the South—and elsewhere—that I always include pecan delicacies in my Yuletide cooking, and with this year's bountiful harvest, cooks can be even more generous.

One of my favorites year round, not just at Christmastime, and a recipe for which I get a number of requests from readers at this time of the year is:

PECAN CONFECTIONS
1 egg white
1 cup brown sugar
Dash of salt, say an eighth of a teaspoon
1 level Tbsp. flour
1 cup chopped pecans

★★★★★★★★★★
Military Mention

PVT. E.O. HARRISON
Pvt. Edward O. Harrison, son of Inez B. Harrison of 215 Demazz Ave., Pass Christian, Miss., has completed basic training at Fort Knox, Ky.

During the training, students received instruction in drill and ceremonies, weapons, map reading, tactics, military courtesy, military justice, first aid, and Army history and traditions.

He is a 1987 graduate of Pass Christian High School.

It's ever so easy, and ever so good! Beat the egg white (I use a wire-whisk) to a stiff froth, then add, very gradually, the cup of brown sugar (mixed with the flour and salt).

Fold in the pecans, and drop by rounded teaspoonfuls onto greased cookie sheets, making sure to space them, as they spread in the baking process. Bake in a slow oven (300 to 350 degrees) according to your oven.

Let cool before removing from cookie sheets. That's all there is to it. This makes one small batch, two dozen small cookies. You may double the batch, but I find that if I try to mix up more than two batches at once, the mixture becomes unwieldy, so I just keep making up one or two batches after another.

Make them as tiny or as large as you wish, you'll enjoy them, and so will the recipients.

If you prefer a "burnt sugar" taste, just leave the cookies in the oven a bit longer, checking the bottoms so that they don't re-burn up!

Misconceptions abound

Holiday plants not all deadly

The popular Christmas Poinsettia has often been described as a toxic plant that must be handled with extreme care in the home during the holiday season.

"Stories are circulated each Christmas that thousands of children become ill and many die from eating Poinsettia leaves," said Dr. Steven E. Newman, assistant professor or ornamental horticulture, Mississippi Agricultural and Forestry Experiment Station.

"These statements are completely false," Newman said. "In research tests, rats fed a maximum dose of the plant showed no ill effects. In fact, it is estimated that a child weighing 50 pounds would have to eat about 1 1/4 pounds of the plant to surpass the equivalent amount fed to the rats."

The horticulturist said many myths, misleading statements, misconceptions and falsehoods occur each year regarding the toxicity of holiday plants.

"I think this happens because of the words used to describe plant toxicity and the meanings people have for those words," he said. "For example, the term 'deadly' is often used in describing a plant's toxic effect, when in fact there is no evidence of deaths recorded as a result of eating the plant parts."

Newman said the plant could be poisonous, but not life-threatening, and could well cause skin irritation, internal poisoning and injury from sharp prickles, spines or thorns.

"Many poisonous plants have such an unpleasant taste that an adult would not likely chew or swallow the plant part such as Dieffenbachia," he said. "But some poisonous plants are not distasteful and could be eaten in quantities large enough to cause serious problems or even death."

Newman said the situation with children is much more dangerous as most have a great curiosity and will often chew on anything within reach. Too, he said smaller amounts of the toxic materials are needed to cause serious injury in children.

Dr. Milo Burnham, horticulturist with the Mississippi Cooperative Extension Service, said there are several poisonous plants associated with the Christmas Holiday Season that require caution and care in their use.

The Jerusalem Cherry is a pot plant prized for its bright red berries," Burnham said. This plant contains a poisonous substance throughout its parts with the highest concentration in the unripened berries.

Burnham said the Azalea plant, perhaps more common during the Easter Season, has toxic leaves, twigs, flowers and pollen grains. He said children have been poisoned by sucking the flowers.

"Christmas without mistletoe is a lot safer than Christmas with mistletoe," he continued.

Taylor announces candidacy for Fifth District Congress seat

Pledging to continue his crusade for honest, effective government, Senator Gene Taylor of Bay St. Louis today announced his candidacy for the Fifth District seat in the U.S. Congress.

"When the citizens of the coastal counties elected me to the state senate four years ago, they entrusted me with the task of serving the people as opposed to certain powerful special interest groups," Taylor said.

"I promised to work for an improved educational system, fiscal responsibility and honesty in state government. The record shows that I have kept my promise."

"For four years, I have led the fight against the old guard politicians' attempt to weaken Mississippi's conflict of interest laws. Most other legislators bowed to their pressure, but in two elections, the people of Mississippi overwhelmingly agreed with me."

"Some 'so-called experts' in Jackson warned me that my opposition to the fat cats in public office would damage my effectiveness as a legislator. They were wrong."

"Despite their opposition, I'm proud of my record of accomplishment. Among other things, I was the author of legislation that designated Interstate 10 as the Vietnam Veterans Memorial Highway, the Senate version of the bill that provided for one-stop voter registration, and the amendment that created the Mississippi Technology Transfer Center and 240 new jobs for my district."

"I also introduced the very first teacher pay raise bill, initiating a movement that resulted in a $4,400 pay raise for our teachers, the largest in the state's history."

"I voted against the bill that would have raised my own salary as a legislator, and when it passed I designated my salary increase to a scholarship fund for deserving Mississippi students."

"As a senator, I've proven that you can be effective without sacrificing your principles. I have established a voting record consistent with the principles of good government, striving at all times to provide the best services possible for the least cost to taxpayers."

"I believe that we have the finest form of representative government ever known to man, yet the survival of our system demands that we constantly strive to be more efficient and to improve government's responsiveness to the people."

"I hope that you will give me the opportunity to help improve our nation by serving in the highest legislative body in the country," Taylor added.

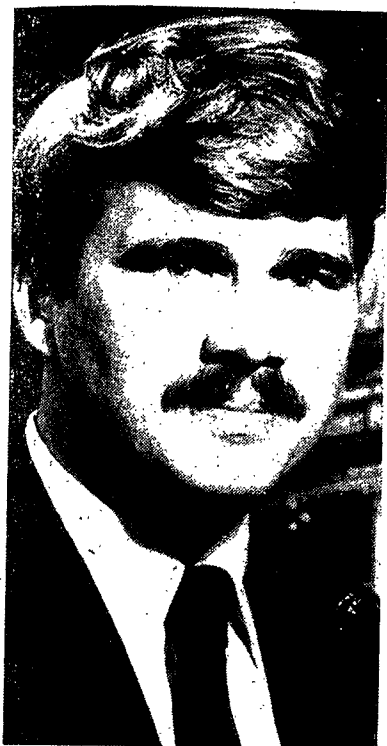

Taylor earned a B.A. degree in political science from Tulane University and has studied business and economics on the graduate level at University of Southern Mississippi-Gulf Park Campus.

He served 13 years as an active member of the United States Coast Guard Reserve, receiving letters of commendation for outstanding performance as a patrol boat skipper and for saving the life of a crew member.

For the past 10 years, Taylor has been a sales representative of Stone Container Corporation.

He is married to the former Margaret Gordon and they are parents of two daughters, Sarah and Emily.

JSU receives $75,000 grant

Jackson State University was recently awarded a $75,000 grant by the National Science Foundation to develop a five-year scientific research improvement plan announced JSU President Dr. James A. Hefner.

One of 15 institutions nationwide to be awarded a planning grant, JSU is to provide 25 percent in matching funds, making the total grant amount $100,000.

If JSU's research plan is selected, the university will be awarded a $6.5 million grant to establish a Minority Research Center.

"We are developing the design for a research center which will concentrate on fundamental studies in computer simulation, life and environmental processes, energy and energy transport processes," said Dr. Richard Sullivan, chairman of the JSU chemistry department and project director.

"We will also look at the basic mechanisms of producing energy or energetic chemicals. This will be a center for basic and applied spectroscopy due to our excellent facilities and expertise in these areas," Sullivan added.

The plan includes 12 research projects in the areas of physics, biology, math and chemistry.

"When you look at our graduate school enrollment nationwide, you see that the percentage of Americans enrolled in doctoral programs in science and engineering disciplines continues to decline, and there is a resulting decline in research in science and engineering being done by Americans in this country," said Sullivan.

"Among blacks and other minorities, the decline is much worse than the national average. Minorities are still significantly underrepresented in the fields of scientific and engineering research."

Sullivan said the National Science Foundation's Minority Research Centers program is designed to address the decline in the pursuit of scientific and engineering research careers and particularly to increase minority participation.

Bay dancer finds 'Scrooge' choreography 'totally different'

BY DENA BISNETTE

When The City of Biloxi and Friends of the Saenger Theatre present "Scrooge, the Musical" this weekend, Sharon Loiacano of Bay St. Louis will not appear on stage, but her work will be featured throughout the show.

Loiacano is making her Gulf Coast theatrical debut as choreographer for the production, which includes Friday and Saturday night performances with a Saturday matinee also scheduled.

Loiacano is a former professional dancer and a dance teacher, but she is working for the first time with amateur actors who, with the exception of a few children who take lessons, are basically not dancers.

She said the work she is doing on "Scrooge" is "a totally different experience."

Loiacano is a 1983 graduate of Texas Christian University with a bachelor of fine arts degree in ballet. She has danced professionally with the Fort Worth Ballet and the Fort Worth Opera and has also performed with the Texas Christian University Dance Ensemble and the Boston Ballet's Summer Ensemble.

She has studied with Velma Schrader and Terri Seir in Parkersburg, W. Va., and at North Carolina School of the Arts, the School of the Boston Ballet and Schaffenburg Ballet Academy in Fort Worth, Texas.

Loiacano also served as artistic director for the Gulf Coast Dance Theatre, which performed at the Biloxi Saenger from 1981 to 1983, and highlights of her work with the group include performing as featured dancer in "Nutcracker."

She is currently director of the Ballet Place in Bay St. Louis.

"This is a totally different experience," she said of working with people who are not dancers.

"I find it exciting. I'm more nervous for them than I would be for myself."

"Working with amateurs is more challenging because you're actually teaching them to dance as well as working with choreography."

"You have to make nondancers look like dancers. Nobody auditioned as a dancer."

"In a show like this, the dance has to look spontaneous and natural,"

Loiacano added.

All of the choreography in the play is original, as are two songs that were written specifically for the Biloxi performance.

Loiacano explained that doing original choreography for a show is a process that requires close work with others.

"First I listen to the music and talk with the artistic director about the kind of look he wants the show to have, the type of production he is putting on," she explained.

"The style of dancing has to fit the mood of the show."

She also is working with another Bay St. Louis resident, Garry Lamb, who is the show's musical director.

"I have to, because I have to know exactly how to do each piece, the tempo, any repeats and whether he has added a section or dropped a section. He has also played all my rehearsals."

"He's excellent," Loiacano said.

"It's nice to work with somebody who knows music as well as he does. I have been impressed with the professionalism of the artistic director and the musical both."

In working with the actors themselves, she has to deal with at least 30 people on stage at a time for three major musical numbers.

In addition, there are about five other dances that include from one to 12 people.

"The bigger ones are not necessarily harder to choreograph but it is more complicated to teach to them," the choreographer said.

"I can do a lot more with the characters when I just have a few. I can focus more on the individuals when I don't have a big, mad crash of people on stage."

"This is a great show," she added. "It's going to be magic, make you really feel like Christmas. It's one of those shows that just makes you feel good."

In addition to Loiacano and Lamb, other local residents appearing or working on the production of "Scrooge" include Marjorie Thomas-Hall and Michelle Flynn of Waveland and Glenda Coss, Shay Coss, Bill Burns, Neil Burns and Gayle Roy, all of Bay St. Louis.

Reserved seat tickets for the 8 p.m. performances are $9 each. Matinee tickets are general admission and are $6. Reservations may be obtained by calling the Saenger box office between 10 a.m. and 3 p.m.

In addition, t-shirts for $6 and sweatshirts for $12, both decorated with the play poster design, will be available as souvenirs.

Meridian officials announce holiday events schedule

Local arts and civics officials recently announced this year's lineup for holiday events in Meridian.

This season's featured event is Merrehope's Trees of Christmas. December 1987 will mark the nineteenth year for the annual Trees of Christmas Tour.

Twelve magnificently decorated trees will be displayed at Merrehope, the city's only antebellum home, and the F.W. Williams House, a restored Victorian style home.

The tour, which was named as one of the top 20 events of the year in 1985 by the Southeast Tourism Society, provides visitors with a different experience each year.

The members of nine federated clubs of Meridian who support the Meridian Restorations Foundation have selected the theme of "Joys of Christmas" for this year's tour to be held Dec. 4-13, from 9 a.m. - 5 p.m. Sunday tours are open from 1 p.m. - 5 p.m.

To kick off the Christmas Tree Tour, a Candlelight Tour will be held Dec. 4-5, from 7 p.m. - 9 p.m. to provide visitors with a beautiful view of Christmas by Candlelight.

One of the trees planned for display this year will be the Victorian Tree. This tree offers a nostalgic picture of the Victorian era decorated with fans and bags made of lace, and cornucopia. Other trees on display include the Gingerbread Tree, which is decorated with a variety of homemade spicy treats. The annual Merrehope Tree symbolizes the continuing record of the work of the Meridian Restorations Foundation, Inc.

Meridian also offers many other events to enjoy during the Christmas season. The annual Madrigal Dinner will be held Dec. 3-5 at the Meridian Community College banquet hall. The setting for this event is one of Old English and ancient finery. Beginning at 6 p.m., this is much more than an ordinary dinner. It is one filled with pagantry, drama, and music. Singers and actors dressed in full costume help to make this a spectacular treat.

Beginning at 5:15 p.m. on the afternoon of Dec. 4, historic City Hall is the site for the annual lighting of the Christmas Tree performed by the mayor. The Christmas spirit fills the air as local chorus groups sing traditional carols while refreshments are served.

The Meridian Symphony Orchestra Ball will be held at the Frank Cochran Center Dec. 5. The Carey Smith Big Band will perform from 7 p.m. until midnight.

The Meridian Museum of Art will feature special exhibits during the holiday season including paintings and sculpture by Robi Succci and John Volapachio. The museum is open Tuesday through Sunday from 1 p.m. until 5 p.m.

The annual Singing Christmas Tree will perform at Highland Baptist Church beginning at 7 p.m. Dec. 10. Over 125 singers will come together to deliver this tremendous Christmas musical for the Meridian Community.

The Meridian Little Theatre will present the award winning comedy "The Foreigner" beginning at 8 p.m. Dec. 10-16 at the Meridian Little Theatre located on Highway 39 North.

On Thursday, Dec. 11, beginning at 7:30 p.m., the Meridian Community College will present An Evening of Chamber Music performed by Carey Smith and Friends in the Meridian Community College theatre.

Dec. 19-20 will be a great time to round out any last minute shopping at the Collector's Fair. The Fair will be held at the Frank Cochran Center beginning at 10 a.m. Saturday, and 1 p.m. Sunday.

For more information on December events, ticket information, and visitor services, contact the Lauderdale County Tourism Commission, P.O. Box 5866, Meridian, MS 39302 or call 601-483-0083.

DIAMONDHEAD FAIRE
The Diamondbackers-Diamondhead Business and Professional Association will sponsor the first Annual Diamondhead Christmas Faire on Sat., Dec. 5, beginning at 10 a.m. with the gathering of friends and neighbors at the shopping center.

Refreshments will be served with Santa arriving at noon and a great balloon release at 3 p.m. A registration will begin Saturday and continue for two weeks for A. (Lucky) Shopper with a $1,000 reward to be announced on Dec. 19.

Supreme Court rules subject of UM legal seminar

The University of Mississippi Center for Continuing Legal Education and Mississippi College School of Law are jointly sponsoring a legal seminar on "The New Mississippi Supreme Court Rules" at the Hilton Inn in Tupelo on Dec. 11.

Designed to introduce the bench and bar to practice and procedure under the new rules, the seminar is being chaired by Amy D. Whitten, court administrator and chief staff counsel to the Supreme Court of Mississippi.

Other faculty members will include Mississippi Supreme Court Justice James L. Robertson; Attorney Lawrence J. Frank of Jackson, chair of the Supreme Court Advisory Committee on Rules; Professor Luther T. Munford of the Mississippi College School of Law; advisory committee reporter for the Supreme Court Rules; and Attorney Terry L. Rushing of Jackson.

Tuition for the seminar, which offers six CLE credits, is $145. Pre-enrollment is advised with on-site enrollment on a space-available basis.

For information, contact the University of Mississippi Center for Continuing Legal Education, 3825 Ridgewood Rd., Jackson, MS 39211; telephone (601) 982-6590.

SSC defeats Bay High in final minutes — 52-49

Tigers to host St. John today

The Bay High Tiger soccer team will meet the St. John Eagles tonight, after tying the Biloxi Indians 3-3 and losing to the Gulfport Admirals 5-1.

Sean Foreman and Travis Foreman, co-captains for the Tiger Admiral game which was played in Gulfport on Nov. 24, report that the Tigers were winning at half-time, 1-0.

Shane Kowalski scored the goal on a penalty shot.

In the second half, however, the Admirals came on very strong, making two penalty shots and three goals from the field of play.

The Tigers' first game of the season against Biloxi ended in a tie, with the Tigers coming from behind in the last quarter of the game to even the score 3-3.

Douglas Rhodes scored one Tiger goal on a header with an assist from Kevin Edwards.

Kowalski scored the other two goals, one on a penalty shot and one with an assist from Greg Ladner.

Team captains for the season's opening game were Scott Barnes and Edwards, who reported that Casey Bernard won the set of Noid dolls that were donated by Domino's; her father, Milton Bernard, won the Tiger Soccer Booster Club sweatshirt. Both were given away at halftime of the Varsity match.

This week's captains, Ladner and Brad Rutledge, invite the Bay-Waveland community to join the Tigers tonight at Tiger Stadium.

The Varsity match begins at 7 p.m. and the Junior Varsity plays at 5:30 p.m.

There is no admission and a free gift will be given away at halftime of the Varsity match.

11C, 10A capture SSC football championships

Homerooms 11C and 10A survived a tough intramural flag football season to win the Senior Division and Junior Division Championships, respectively.

In the Senior Division, 11C won both rounds of play and won the overall championship with a hard-fought 26-16 decision over 12B.

Leading the charge for 11B were quarterback Lloyd Nicaud and receivers Marc Matherne, Chris Breide and Bart Brooks, all of whom scored touchdowns in the championship game.

In Junior Division championship play, 10A prevailed over 10C by a score of 24-12. Quarterback Robbie Bishop threw touchdown passes to Adam Ostrowe, Chris Perrone and Greg Schuff. After 10C took an initial lead on an interception by David Alexander, 10A fought back to capture a 12-6 halftime lead.

The St. Stanislaus Rockachaws edged out a win over the Bay High Tigers Tuesday night in an exciting, hard-fought 52-49 contest.

SSC junior forward Brian Alexander came off the bench in the second half to ignite the Rockachaws.

Alexander had two key rebounds and a steal and provided the go-ahead basket in leading the Rocks to victory in the final two minutes of the contest.

Leading scorer for the evening was Cedric Walker of Bay High with 19 points, followed by SSC's Shannon Garrett with 16 points.

Also hitting in double figures were Bay High's Micah Necaise and St. Stanislaus' Chad Matthews with 12 points and Yasin Shabazz with 10.

The game was a typical Bay High-Stanislaus match, being a close contest from beginning to end with neither team gaining more than a seven-point advantage at any time in the game.

The contest was highlighted by fast-paced action, with the lead changing hands many times throughout the game and neither team taking control.

Necaise opened up the scoring for Bay High with a breakaway layup, but the Rocks answered when sophomore forward Sean Sewell connected for two on an assist by Shabazz.

At the end of the first quarter, the Rocks maintained a slim 11-10 lead.

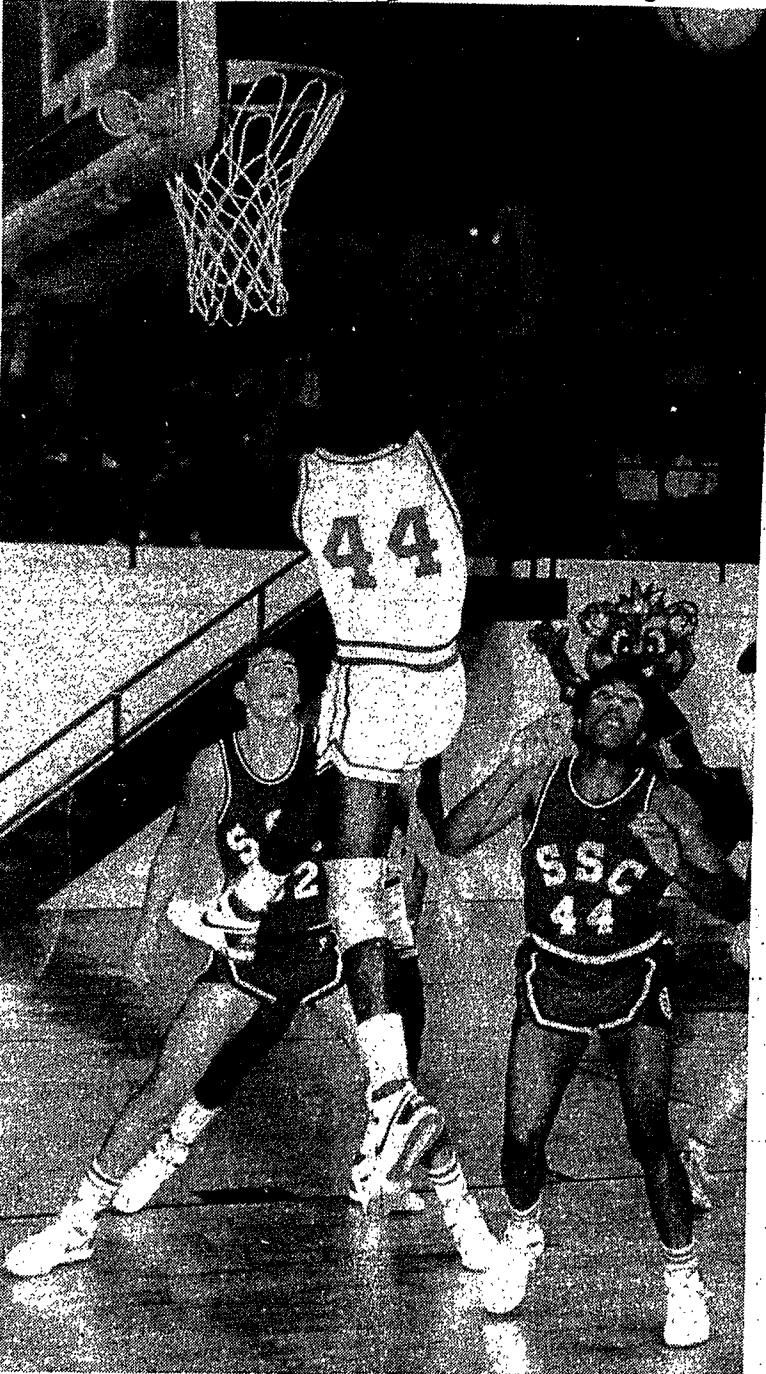

The Tigers inched out to a 16-11 advantage early in the second quarter, but Garrett answered the challenge by splitting three Bay High defenders for a quick layup. On the next trip down the court, Garrett hit for three points to tie the score at 16-16.

Necaise responded with an outside jumper, but SSC's Chad Matthews got open underneath the basket for a layup which put SSC on top 22-20. The first half ended on Shabazz' three pointer as the Rocks enjoyed a 25-22 halftime advantage.

Bay High used solid rebounding in the third quarter to go back on top 32-31. Five unanswered points later, the Tigers stretched their lead to 37-31 on a basket by Walker, who was fouled on the play.

SSC slowly came back as Shabazz' three pointer brought the Rocks within two points at 41-40. Shabazz then took control as he drove past Walker for another layup, and on the next possession fed Alexander for two as SSC increased their lead to ROCKACHAW JO LEE (10) goes up to block a shot by Micah Necaise (24) of Bay Senior High Tuesday in the match between the BHS Tigers and St. Stanislaus Rockachaws. Bay Coach Michael Ladner praised Necaise's performance in the game. Although he scored 12 points for the Tigers, his most important contribution was a solid game at point guard throughout the match, Ladner said.

GO FOR THE REBOUND—Several players in the Bay Senior High and St. Stanislaus game vie for the rebound Tuesday in the match won by SSC, 52-49. In on the action are Tigers Bennie Tillman (11), Cedric Walker (44), and Kendall Michel (22) and SSC player Sean Sewell (32). (SSC photo)

Patriots take second place

The Bays Under 10 girls, sponsored by Bernard Construction, participated in a recent Mississippi Youth Soccer Association all girl fall festival held in Vicksburg.

The Patriots started play on Saturday morning with a hard fought defensive battle by defeating the Vicksburg Mar-Lets 1-0. That afternoon they played a great game by defeating Greenville 4-0.

On Sunday the Patriots played the Goalbusters, the number one team from Vicksburg.

The game was a very tough one as it ended in a 0-0 tie. By going undefeated and unscored upon in the tournament, the Patriots advanced to the championship game.

But they were beaten by a select team from northeast Jackson for the tournament championship.

The official's jurisdiction and duties

By Andy Pressgrove

Over the past few years, I have had numerous requests for an article that deals with each game official's duties and responsibilities during a ball game. So, this week and next week I will cover this subject.

The official's jurisdiction begins with the scheduled coin toss at mid-field and ends when the referee declares the score final. "How sweet it is!" A few years ago Tulane played LSU in "Death Valley". Coach Vince Gibson was the coach at Tulane and even though he won this particular game it was his last one.

When the referee and I made our pregame visit to both coaches one hour and fifteen minutes prior to kick-off, Coach Gibson grabbed me by the arm and said, "Pressgrove, LSU has refused to give us enough sideline passes for our trainers and equipment personnel." "Coach," I replied, "You know we don't have any control over that." Hopefully, we never will.

An NCAA game can be played under the supervision of four, five, six or seven officials and since most of the games you, as a fan will see, are worked with seven, we will be talking about seven.

Each official is responsible for knowing yardage to gain, number of down, granting timeouts, declaring the ball dead, determining the score, using proper signals, mastering NCAA playing rules and employing the mechanics of officiating as outlined in an approved NCAA Manual of Football Officiating.

All officials are responsible for decisions involving the application of a rule, its interpretation or enforcement. Each official drops a marker and records each foul he observes and has specific duties, but each has equal jurisdiction in matters of judgement.

Officials are required to wear a uniform as prescribed in an approved NCAA Manual of Football Officiating. In addition, an official must have a whistle, a marker to designate fouls, a bean bag to record important field locations and a game card for recording fouls.

THE REFEREE

The referee has general oversight and control of the game and is the sole authority for the proper score. His decision upon rules and other matters pertaining to the game are final.

Other responsibilities of the referee include declaring the ball ready for play after determining the officials are ready and directing the clock started on the ready for play or the snap.

The referee also administers penalties, making sure that both captains understand the procedure and outcome and inspects the field for any irregularities to report to game management.

The initial position of the referee on scrimmage play is behind and to the side of the offensive backfield where he observes shifts, legality of blocking and play behind the neutral zone involving the ball.

The referee is responsible for coverage of the quarterback. The referee is positioned in the area of the deep receivers on free kicks.

THE UMPIRE

The umpire has jurisdiction over player equipment. He also is responsible for line play on both sides of the neutral zone, legality of the snap, counting offensive players and checking the referee's penalty enforcement.

Beginning in 1987 the umpire administers the penalty. Umpires also are responsible for reminding the referee of the time remaining in each period.

The initial position of the umpire on scrimmage plays is five to seven yards beyond the neutral zone where he adjusts his position to prevent interference with player movement. The umpire's position on free kicks is with the kicker or on the restraining line of the kicking team.

There are five other officials on the seven man crew but I've run out of space. Stay tuned and we'll talk about the Linesmen, Line Judge, Back Judge, Field Judge, and Side Judge next week.

In the Junior Division, the following players distinguished themselves: Scott Peterson, Tony Nguyen, Kirk Kimball, Sean Sewell, Clay Kenney, Manning Montagnet, Tres Prats, Ryan Rabin, David Eckert, Chad Israel, Roger Maxey and Chris Reisch.

St. Stanislaus offers a wide variety of intramural activities, including soccer, basketball, softball, intramural swim and track meets and volleyball.

BENCHWARMER Sports Trivia
Who was first baseball player in modern era (after 1900) to collect 3,000 hits in his career?
3000
BY BOB ALEXANDER
ANSWER:
The first to get 3,000 career hits was Jimmie Foxx of the Philadelphia Athletics in 1932.

BET YOU DIDN'T KNOW
Brought To You By Jim Henrie
How's this for a football oddity. Did you know there was once a college football game in which one team did not run or pass the ball at any time during the entire game, and still won it? It happened to Kentucky. In a game in the early 1900's, Kentucky decided to kick on the first down every time they got the ball. They did kick on first down throughout the game. They never ran the ball and never passed. And they won 12-6 by recovering two fumbles by their opponents in the end zone! This oddity is hard to believe but it's been verified by the Kentucky Athletic Department.

Ever wonder how many commercials there are during the telecast of college or pro football games? How many would you say? The national TV networks put in about 50 different commercials during the telecast of each game.

When was the last time a team won the championship of the National Football League with a rookie as its regular quarterback? It hasn't happened since 1945 when the Rams won the NFL title with rookie Bob Waterfield at quarterback.

PRC staging annual tourney

Pearl River College will stage its second annual Coke Classic in Poplarville in the Marvin R. White Coliseum Thursday through Saturday.

Five teams will join the Wildcats in the local tournament which is becoming a showcase of junior college basketball talent. Delgado and Bossier City from Louisiana and Natchez Junior College and Mary Holmes from West Point will tangle with the Wildcats and the neighboring Gulf Coast Bulldogs.

"We really have some fine teams in this tournament," said Peter Georgian, the Wildcats' head coach. "Bossier City is undefeated and Delgado (the number one team in the nation for most of the '86 season) are very strong."

Georgian said the Gulf Coast Bulldogs look very impressive here in '87. The Bulldogs won two of four games last week during the Delgado Thanksgiving Tournament in New Orleans.

Bossier City played in a six-team Texas tournament over the holidays; however, Mary Holmes, PRC and Natchez have been idle for the past week.

"Being off nearly a week may hurt us," said Georgian. The Wildcats are 3-1 here in the early going with wins over Prentiss Institute (95-90), Utica (65-57) and Delta (103-70). The Cats lost their last outing 89-82 to Holmes Junior College.

Picayune's Adrain McCray is leading the Wildcats in scoring with a 22 point average. Wendell Carter of Atlanta is averaging 17 points per contest. Sophomore Thomas Foster, also of Atlanta, is averaging 13, but he had a game-high 31 against Prentiss Institute.

The PRC Coke Classic schedule includes:

Gulf Coast Research Laboratory studying nutrients in seafood

The National Marine Fisheries Service (NMFS) has awarded a research contract to the Gulf Coast Research Laboratory (GCRL) of Ocean Springs to study fatty acids and other nutrients of Gulf of Mexico fish that will lead to a better understanding of possible health benefits to those consuming seafood.

Much of the interest in fatty acids in fish stems from the knowledge that fish oils are abundant in certain polyunsaturated fatty acids that are reported to reduce cholesterol and triglyceride levels in the blood. Misconceptions and inadequacies in present information led NMFS to include the study in the Stanton-Kennedy Funding Program.

Principal Investigators at GCRL for the three-year study are Dr. Julia S. Lytle, head of Environmental Chemistry and Dr. Thomas F. Lytle, head of Analytical Chemistry. NMFS will provide $220,095 and the GCRL $95,186 in support of the work for a total of $315,281.

"Not every species of Gulf fish will be studied," said Julia Lytle "for several reasons. Some Gulf fish have already been studied very carefully for fatty acid content. Some fish probably will never be of much interest to recreational or commercial fishermen; still others will be hard to bring to the lab in a condition suitable for analysis." Thomas Lytle added, "We will try to get data on every fish possible that is either now or someday could be consumed in some form by the American public."

In 1986 the typical U.S. consumer ate only 14.7 lbs. of fish with much of that being imported. The study will provide NMFS and the U.S. consumer with nutritional information about a broad spectrum of shellfish and finfish in Gulf waters that should encourage a broader use of domestically available seafood. The study will acquaint the consumer with positive aspects of some fish heretofore regarded as "trash" fish and introduce him to fish that may be attractive as a sport fish or a consumer product.

Dr. Julia Lytle notes that, "Because we must have a reliable supply of absolutely fresh fish, we will be working with other investigators at GCRL who regularly sample nearshore Gulf waters, seafood markets, sports fishermen, NMFS personnel from Pascagoula and others to supply us with fish. "Every fish will be collected in the spring, summer and fall to determine seasonal variations," said Dr. Tom Lytle "so we had to get firm commitments for this help. That was easy since everyone we contacted was very eager to see this program be successful."

Besides providing information on domestic fish, a number of imported fish will be obtained by NMFS and given to the Lytles to allow a comparison of imported and domestic fish. Dr. Harold Howse, Director of GCRL, confesses, "Naturally, I am particularly excited about this project because it is intimately related to public health. I feel that the U.S. citizen can gain immeasurably from better nutritional information on the foods he eats so that he can choose his diet more intelligently."

NMFS shares Dr. Howse's optimism that studies of this type will promote an increased and wiser use of domestically available seafood.

MCILWAIN REAPPOINTED
Dr. Thomas D. McIlwain, assistant director for Fisheries Research and Management of the Gulf Coast Research Laboratory, was recently reappointed to a two-year term to the U.S. Marine Fisheries Advisory Board (MAFAC). This national committee of 12 members has been constituted by the Congress to serve as an advisory committee to the U.S. Secretary of Commerce.

Dr. McIlwain is currently serving on several other national and regional fishery committees.

Fishing seminar to highlight first Gulf/Caribbean Expo

When the first annual Gulf/Caribbean Fisheries Expo opens at The Rivergate in New Orleans, La., March 3 1988, for a three-day run, it will indeed be a new show—but there will also be something old.

The old—but popular—fishing industry seminars, which have grown in popularity with each successive International Work Boat Show, will move to the Gulf/Caribbean Fisheries Expo, remaining under the expert supervision of the Louisiana Sea Grant College Program.

Another show-goer's draw will be the national meeting of the Concerned Shrimpers of America which will be held in New Orleans during the run of the show.

Close to 200 exhibitors have already reserved space for the show as commercial fishermen and representatives of allied industries throughout the Western Hemisphere are making plans to attend the event, located downtown next to the banks of the Mississippi River.

H.L. Peace Expositions has responded to repeated requests from fishermen for their own show. Gulf/Caribbean Fisheries Expo will encompass not just fishing, but also processing and marketing aspects of the seafood industry.

44-41 with 6:51 left in the contest.

The Rockchaws employed an aggressive man-to-man defense which prevented Bay High from setting up their offense. The Tigers fought back and went up 45-44 on a turnaround jumper by Necaise.

Garrett was then fouled on the next offensive possession for the Rocks, and he converted his two free throws to put the Rocks up 46-45.

Alexander then stole the ball from Necaise and drove the length of the court. He was fouled on his attempted layup, and hit one of two free throws to increase to Rock lead to 47-45.

Elzy then sank two free throws to tie the game at 47-47 with 2:22 left.

Shabazz attempted a three-pointer which was rebounded by Alexander, who was fouled on his follow-up attempt. Alexander sank one free throw to give the Rocks a one-point advantage.

Michel was fouled under the basket and calmly sank both free throws to put the Tigers ahead 49-48 with 1:41 left. The crowd began to get excited, as both groups of fans urged their team on to victory.

Alexander then provided the margin of victory on the next possession as he drove for an inside layup to give the Rocks a 50-49 lead with less than a minute remaining.

Bay High could not convert their next possession into points, and the Rocks rebounded. Shabazz found Garrett on the wing, and Garrett drove in for the layup to put the Rocks three points up with :25 seconds remaining, 52-49.

Bay High called time out, and set up their next play. Necaise's three-point attempt was wide, and the Rocks rebounded to preserve a hard-fought 52-49 win.

SSC is now 3-3 for the season, while Bay High dropped to 0-5.

Although the Tigers are still looking for their first victory, Coach Michael Ladner is optimistic about this game and the future of his team.

"It was a tough battle tonight between the two rivals but both teams, though young and showing inexperience, displayed the desire, hustle and enthusiasm that you like to see in young people," Ladner said.

Members of both teams represented their parents and schools with class and played a ball game that the fans enjoyed watching, he added.

"I know we are going to get better and better as we mature as a team and spend more time together on and off the floor," Ladner continued.

"We have good people on the team and if we can keep our enthusiasm and desire alive the wins will come and we really appreciate the fans who are supporting the young men and women representing Bay High on the basketball team," he said.

In the preliminary Junior Varsity game, Coach Jerry Spell's Rockchaws defeated the Tigers 49-24.

The Rocks enjoyed a 28-7 halftime lead, and were led by the strong rebounding of Chris Perrone, and good passing by Greg Schuff and David Alexander.

Bay High junior varsity scoring was led by David Weems with six points and Will Seymour with five points.

Bay High varsity teams will begin play in the Pass Christian Tournament tonight with games at 7 and 8:30 p.m. against St. Martin.

Stanislaus is in action tonight in the Catholic Tournament held at Mercy Cross.

Wildcats open basketball season

The Pearl River Junior College basketball Wildcats put together a very impressive 17-11 overall ledger last year under first-year head coach Peter Georgian.

Look for even better things this year.

Coach Georgian, who was super successful during his tenure at Stone High School in Wiggins, has five sophomores returning including star forward Adrian McCray of Picayune.

McCray averaged 22 points per ballgame last year as the 'Cats also racked up a 9-5 South Division mark.

"McCray is looking super," said Georgian. "He's averaging 30 points per game here in pre-season and has learned to bring down the offensive rebounds."

The Wildcats are 5-1 in pre-season including two wins over William Carey College. And to date, Georgian has not been able to put his top seven in one single game.

"We have been blasted with injuries," said Georgian. "We have not had a full team this fall. In fact, we have been practicing with managers."

McCray has been out as well as freshman starter Wendell Carter (6'5) from Atlanta. Carter, who had signed earlier to play for a college in El Paso, Texas, is a very strong inside player. "He is physical," said Georgian. "He needs work on shooting, but if he gets his eye problem straight and adjusts to the way we do things here he can be a super player."

Two players Georgian recruited from the PRC district which he planned on being the sixth and seventh starters have not played in a pre-season game.

Jamal Swain (6'7), a graduate of Oak Grove, missed three weeks of practice with a pulled calf muscle and then two weeks with a twisted knee.

Scott Waldrop (6'0), also an Oak Grove product, had stomach problems for three weeks and for the past month he has had a bad ankle. "I expected both of these players to see plenty of action," said Georgian. "But they have not been in a scrimmage game this year."

Filling in and doing a great job has been freshman Russell Lee (6'1), from Carriere and Carlton Anderson (6'2) from Columbia. "They both started against Carey this week and were outstanding," said Georgian.

The most pleasant surprise for coach Georgian has been the early season play of sophomore Maurice Dozier (6'7) of Macon, Georgia. Dozier has been moved inside from the forward position and is averaging 10 points and 10 rebounds per game.

"Dozier is doing a great job defensively," said Georgian. "He put on about 15 pounds this past year and has been working really hard. He can be that strong inside man we needed."

The quarterback for the Wildcats is sophomore Thomas Foster (5'10) also from Atlanta. "Thomas is the experience we want at the point guard position," said Georgian. "He has cut down his floor mistakes from last year and will be a supper asset to our ballclub."

Foster averaged 11 points per game last year and led the team with seven assists per game. Georgian says he has developed into a good floor leader.

Wes Dedeaux (6'3) was a substitute last year. However, the Bay St. Louis sophomore is a starter here in '87. "Wes is doing a good job," Georgian said. "He can jump well, but he must improve his outside shooting to take some of the pressure off McCray on the other side."

Dedeaux runs the floor well and can develop into an effective second guard.

Perry Collins (6'2) of Picayune is a sophomore who will play two positions. According to Georgian he will help the 'Cats tremendously in relief. "Perry will see a lot of action at the off-side guard position and at forward."

Jerry Geathers (6'8) is the starting defensive end on the Pearl River football team. "Jerry is so quick and so strong that he will help keep the opponent from keying on just one inside man," said Georgian. "When Geathers is in, Dozier can be moved back to the forward position," said Georgian.

Darold Hill (6'0) is a freshman backup guard from Atlanta. "Darold is not as quick as Foster, but he is a good ball handler and good outside shooter," said Georgian.

The Wildcats will open their regular season Monday, Nov. 16 at home against Prentiss Institute. The first division game is Thursday, Nov. 19 against Utica.

Coast Episcopal dramatists present 'time machine' adventure

Set designer Phillip Spinks adds the finishing touch to one panel

Coast Episcopal High School Theatre club and drama class presented a Magic Time Machine Dinner Theatre Saturday evening at St. Marks Episcopal Church in Gulfport.

This production is a collection of scenes from six plays spanning the major ages of theatre from Greek-Roman to Modern.

The plays chosen for production are "Antigone" by Sophocles representing the Greek-Roman era; "Everyman" adapted by John Galsworthy, Medieval; "School for Wives" by Moliere, Renaissance; "Two Gentlemen of Verona" by Shakespeare, Elizabethan era; "The Way of the World" by William Congreve, Restoration; and "You Can't Take It With You" by George Kaufman and Moss Hart, modern era.

CEHS theatre director Reta Ridling says the concept of the dinner theatre is similar to the Magic Time Machine Restaurants with waiters and waitresses dressed in character.

The menu for the evening included Romeo's Chicken Juliette, Pasta As You Like It, Sophocles Salad Supreme, Macbeth's Scottish Buns, Jivey Java The Emperor's Royal Blend and Tartuffe's Desserte Carte.

Original mime material, performed by Leah Salisbury, was used to connect all the scenes together.

Sets for the production were designed by Phillip Spinks and costumes were designed and constructed by CEHS students under Ridling's supervision.

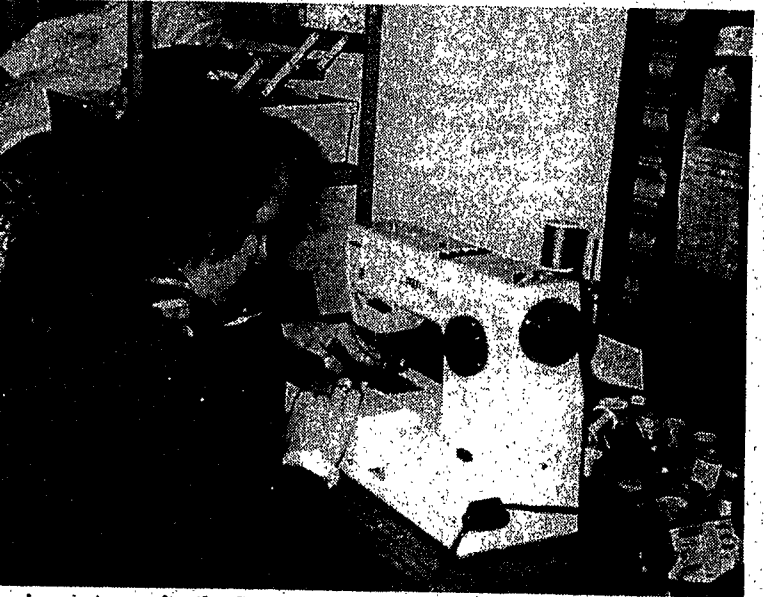

The cast included seniors Tori Cazier, Lisa Twedt, Susannah Shellnut; juniors Rusty Roper, Alexandria Lindsey, Cherie Little, Malise Marchal, Sean Bell, sophomores Phillip Spinks, Margaret Clarkson, Katie Grant, Jennifer Burkett, Leigh Biggs, freshman Laura Taylor and David Williams, and eighth grader Blair Shellnut.

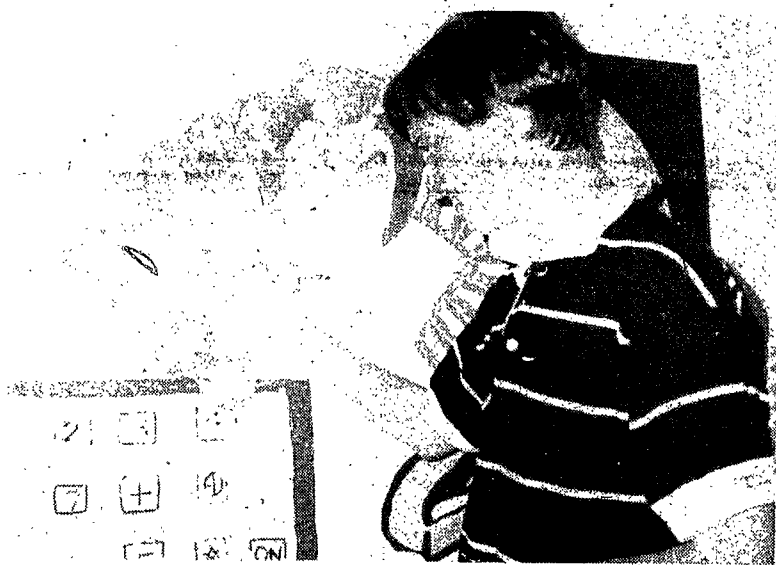

Scene from "School for Wives" with Arnolphe played by David Williams and Agnes by Margaret Clarkson Coast Episcopal High School's presentation of the Greek Tragedy "Antigone" features King Creon played by Phillip Spinks; Sentry by Rusty Roper, and Antigone by Tori Cazier.

Sewing costumes for the Coast Episcopal High School Magic Time Machine Dinner Theatre is junior Cherie Little Rusty Roper paints the set for the Coast Episcopal High School Dinner Theatre.

Junior Sean Bell works on blocking with theatre teacher Reta Ridling as Phillip Spinks works on the set.

Bay St. Louis man nominated for outstanding Young Man

Kevin Leonard Pokallus of Bay St. Louis is included in the list of nominees as selected by the Board of Advisors for the Outstanding Young Men of America awards program.

Men named on this list have been selected for inclusion in the 1987 edition of Outstanding Young Men of America.

Now in its 25th year, the OYMA program is designed to honor and encourage exceptional young men between the ages of 21 and 38 who have distinguished themselves in many fields of endeavor, such as service to community, professional leadership, academic achievement, business advancement, cultural accomplishments, and civic and political participation.

Achievements in these areas are the result of dedication, responsibility, and a drive for excellence—qualities which deserve to be recognized and remembered.

Pokallus, along with fellow Outstanding Young Men throughout North America, were selected after 150,000 nominations were received from political leaders, University and College officials, clergymen, business leaders, as well as from various civic groups and community organizations.

Each young man will be represented by his biographical entry in this prestigious annual awards publication.

Our Board of Advisors and Editors salute all those honored as Outstanding Young Men of America. We take great pride in bringing their accomplishments to the attention of the American public.

USM grant should expand student job opportunities

University of Southern Mississippi students should receive more opportunities to earn while they learn with the receipt of a $114,167 grant from the U.S. Department of Education.

The federal grant will allow USM's cooperative Education Program to expand, hopefully creating more off-campus employment opportunities and a better chance for students to gain hands-on experience working in areas related to their major fields of study.

According to program Director Dr. Charlotte Tullos, USM will be able to more aggressively seek out employers for participation in the program by providing student internships, either simultaneously with coursework or on alternating semesters.

"The grant means our program will double in size," Tullos said, predicting the number of participating employers, students and staff will increase.

The money, she said, will be used to hire three new staff members—one assistant director, one coordinator and a secretary.

The five-member staff will be responsible for the program, which is aimed at career-oriented students.

An academic program in which students can achieve a balance between education and vocation, the Cooperative Education Program benefits both students and employers, Tullos said, adding, "Students get a good look at their chosen fields and employers get the cream of the crop while they are still in training."

"The competition for co-op positions is fierce," Tullos said, "but the rewards are numerous. It also serves as an excellent financial aid tool because students can earn a living while completing their college degrees."

Currently, some 1,600 universities across the country operate co-op programs, and often companies approach those universities to ask for co-op students as they recruit employees on college campuses.

To enter the program, Tullos said students must have a 2.5 overall grade-point average and they must have completed at least 30 semester-hours of coursework. In addition, they must provide letters of recommendation from previous employers or faculty members.

At USM, the program was established during the 1981-82 academic year. Currently a single coordinator and Tullos handle the program administration that last year placed 250 students in some 175 businesses nationwide.

The new five-member staff will be responsible for dealing with more than 500 employers and 7,800 students each year. One goal of the program is to increase the number of on-site visits by students to business and industry.

"It will be a concentrated effort like it's never been before," Tullos said, noting the university will provide additional monies to finance the program.

"The whole idea behind this is to promote economic development—to keep Mississippi students working in Mississippi," Tullos pointed out. "The program gives students what they must have in today's job market—professional experience—while combining academic study with paid employment."

Another supplemental grant of $7,878 from the U.S. Department of Education will promote job development, Tullos said.

"We take the job seriously. We want to keep our trained people in the state, and now we can do twice as good a job," she added.

STUDENT COUNCIL WORKSHOP—Hancock North Central High School Student Council members attended the South Mississippi High School Student Council Workshop held Oct. 28 at the University of Southern Mississippi. Sponsored by the Division of Lifelong Learning at USM, the session is designed to provide leadership training. It enables councils to exchange ideas and increase their effectiveness. Pictured are, first row from left, reporter Keith Ladner and vice president Sherry Shaw; and second row from left, reporter Holly Heitzmann and treasurer Melissa Necaise.

Guenard named to Who's Who

Hayward Brett Guenard of Waveland, a radio, television and film major at University of Southern Mississippi, has been selected among national outstanding campus leaders and will be included in the 1988 edition of Who's Who Among Students in American Universities and Colleges.

The son of Milton and Marie Bernard of Waveland is a dean's list scholar and a member of the Financial Aid Appeals Committee, Southern Cinema, University Activities Council, Alpha Tau Omega and the Registration Appeals Committee.

Guenard was one of 35 USM students named to the edition. Now in its 53rd year, the Who's Who program is based on academic achievements, service to the community, leadership in extracurricular activities and potential for continued success.

More than 1,400 institutions of higher learning across the country nominate students for Who's Who each year.

Dow Chemical, USM providing scholarships

HATTIESBURG—University of Southern Mississippi alumni employed by the DOW Chemical Company are joining forces to provide scholarships for chemistry and polymer science students at the university.

Carl Strange, a DOW employee and USM alum, presented the money and announced the formation of a USM Alumni-DOW Scholarship Fund. The fund will establish, through contributions from DOW's USM alumni and matching grants from the company, an endowment to be used for the annual scholarships.

With the presentation of checks totaling $8,000 to the USM Foundation, DOW's long-standing support of USM was continued. DOW began presenting its Outstanding Junior Awards to students in the departments in 1985.

Teachers make law real for teens

A specially funded institute at the University of Southern Mississippi is producing a legacy that promises to heighten Mississippi teenagers' appreciation for the law.

The Mississippi Institute on Law-Related Education, funded by an $83,739 U.S. Department of Education grant, selected 30 high school teachers from across the state to participate in six weekend workshops.

The workshops are designed to prepare participants to teach a law-related course at their respective schools. Also, workshop consultants are to produce two law-related education reference books, which will be distributed to every public school district in Mississippi.

"It (the high school course) will build citizenship and leadership skills through education and analytical thinking and understanding of the law," said Dr. Margaret "Peggy" Smith, a USM assistant professor of education leadership and research. "These skills enable students to apply legal principles to their daily lives and to meet the obligations of citizens."

Smith and Dr. William Ferguson, a USM associate professor of educational leadership and research, co-direct the institute and coordinate a group of education and law experts—including seven other USM professors, Hattiesburg attorney Alison Steiner and Mississippi Supreme Court Justice Michael Sullivan.

"We have really good participation and consultants," Smith said. "It's a top-notch program that Mississippi can be proud of."

Topics the teachers will help their students understand include DUI (driving under the influence of alcohol) or other mind-altering drugs), traffic laws, voting rights, pranks that could become crimes and a provision that allows teenagers to be tried and sentenced as adults in certain serious crimes.

The DOE grant allows the participating secondary teachers to attend the program without cost, while earning a $75 stipend for each of the Friday-night-through-Saturday sessions that got underway Oct. 30-31. Additional workshops were scheduled for Dec. 4-5, Jan. 22-23, Feb. 5-6 and 19-20, and March 4-5.

Each of the participating consultants is to write a chapter on a particular legal topic, which will be compiled into a book. A copy of that book, along with a manual for high school teachers to use in teaching law-related courses.

This workshop series is a function of the USM College of Education and Psychology's Education Law Institute, which began operations this past summer.

USM offers tuition rebate in special education

HATTIESBURG—The University of Southern Mississippi now offers a half-tuition rebate to state-certified teachers who wish to become re-certified in special education.

A state program established in 1983 allowed similar rebates for teachers who wished to become re-certified in math, science or foreign languages—fields in which teacher shortages were being felt or anticipated.

The rebate is offered at all of USM's campuses, including those in Hattiesburg and in Harrison and Jackson counties.

Teachers earning re-certification in the specified areas must pay full tuition at the beginning of each term for the courses they take, but USM will reimburse them for 50 percent after successful completion of the courses.

For information on procedures and courses to which the rebate applies, interested persons should call 266-4568 in Hattiesburg, 865-4512 in Harrison County or 497-3636 in Jackson County.

EDUCATION

High tech and education merge when "Education: The Way Up" looks at current and future educational technology on Mississippi ETV. The program airs at 1 p.m. on Sunday, Dec. 6.

Hosted by Melanie Christopher, "Education: The Way Up" on the 6th will highlight innovative programs used in state schools where computers and the latest high-tech advances are used to improve student educational opportunities.

The Natchez-Adams District Schools will be spotlighted during the regular feature segment, and discussing advances in educational technology will be Bill Reedy, assistant superintendent of Natchez-Adams District Schools; David Ellington, ITV director for the West Tallahatchie Consolidated District Schools; and Larry Dantzier, administrative assistant for Greene County District Schools.

Each episode of "Education: The Way Up" is shown at 2 p.m. the preceding Friday for the in-school use of teachers and administrators.

FACES

On Thursday, Dec. 3, Mississippi ETV's "Faces" series examines the newly developed Vietnamese community that has sprung up along the Gulf Coast.

A special segment shot on the Coast shows how the Vietnamese are becoming active entrepreneurs in the Gulf seafood industry and points up the relationship that exists between the Asian and black communities.

A panel of guests including James Black, a minister in Biloxi; Bishop Robert Nance, a minister in Biloxi; and Liem Tran, a businessman in Biloxi, discuss the issue when "Faces" airs on ETV.

The show, hosted and produced by Ruth Campbell, also features a concert by the band Seduction, which was recorded during a concert at Jackson State University.

Regular contributors Jane Crater Hiatt (Minority Digest) and John Horn and Rosita Crisler (Voices) are also included on the program, which airs at 10 a.m., Thursday, Dec. 3, on Mississippi ETV. An encore presentation will be shown at 5:30 p.m., Sunday, Dec. 6.

WHO'S DRIVING HOME?

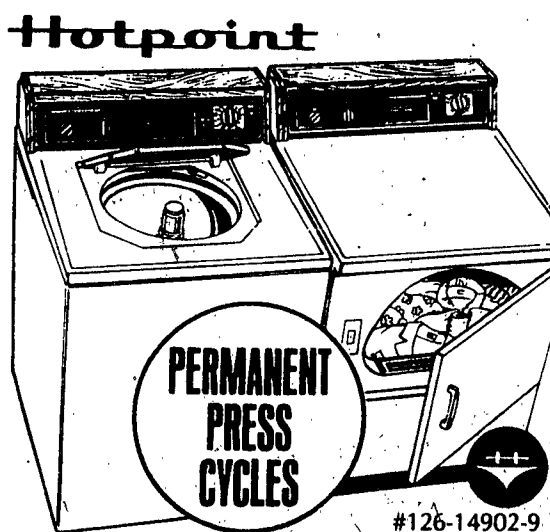

Alas, the party's over. The music is playing softly in the background, friends are saying good night and the clean up detail is beginning. But for Brian, Jennifer, Tracey and Rick, who added drinking to their evening, a decision has to be made. Approximately 46 teenagers will be killed this year in Mississippi by drinking and driving or riding with someone who does. It's your choice.

TEEN TALK

Dealing With People Important For Teens

By Ann F. Jarratt
Youth Development Specialist
Mississippi Cooperative Extension Service

Dealing with people is an important part of which each of us must do. Whether it's dealing with family, with teachers or classmates or people on the job, we must be able to relate in order to be successful.

One teen asked, "Why do people always use you to get what they want?"

I'm basically an optimist. I don't believe that all people use others. In fact, I believe that a true friend would never use a friend in a selfish way. As a realist, I know that some people would use you if you permitted it. My advice is steer clear of people who would use you. Spend your time with people who build you up, not tear you down.

Someone else wanted to know about love relationships.

"What are some tips on having a better relationship with the guy you know you love?"

A love relationship needs to be nurtured just as any other friendship: talking and listening to each other, being honest in your dealings with each other, respecting each other's beliefs even when they're different from your own, sharing interests and concerns, encouraging each other to develop talents and abilities. The most important thing that either of you can do for the relationship is to become the most capable, mature person you can be.

Someone else had a question about family relationships.

"What are some tips on helping a friend deal with a family problem?"

Be a listener. Be a person who keeps a confidence when asked. If the problem seems to be more than you and your friend can handle or if you feel that someone is in danger, help your friend get in touch with a professional counselor, physician, minister or other trained helper.

Remember, you can't solve anyone's problems for them. Just having a friend who cares and listens often makes a big difference in how a person comes through upsetting situations.

A teen wanted to know, "How do you handle people that you just can't get along with?"

How important is this person to you? If you choose, could you avoid being around this person altogether? If you've tried everything you know to do and still can't get along with the person, then staying away is about your best choice. If you can't avoid the person, and he/she won't change, perhaps you can change your attitude and learn to tolerate the person. If you try concentrating on finding one good thing about this person each time you're together, one day you might be amazed at how this person has changed and become more likeable.

Ole Miss seeks applications for PACE honors program

The University of Mississippi's model program for gifted high school students is seeking applications for the 1988 session.

Project PACE—Promoting Academic and Creative Excellence—is open to selected high school students entering their senior year.

The PACE program enables high school students to complete six hours of college credit while spending a month at Ole Miss in the summer between their junior and senior years. The 1988 program will be held during the university's second summer session from July 6 through Aug. 4. Applications to the PACE program must be received by April 15, 1988.

Dr. George Everett, head of the honors program at Ole Miss, says the program allows gifted high school students a unique opportunity.

"It's a chance for such students to get together with people like themselves for a change," Everett says. "It gives them exposure to enhanced educational facilities and allows them to realize that being gifted isn't something to feel uncomfortable about."

High school students applying to the PACE program must be entering their senior year and must meet the university's early admissions requirements. They include the successful completion of 15 high school credits—including three years of high school English—and a minimum 24 ACT score.

Prospective PACE students who have not taken the ACT test must take it in either December 1987 or February 1988 to qualify.

Once admitted to the university, admission to PACE is based on IQ test scores, achievement test scores, high school transcript, recommendations from school officials, the student's participation in school and community activities and a writing sample.

The PACE curriculum consists of one three-hour course in the humanities and another three-hour course of the student's choice.

New for 1988 will be an increased emphasis on writing skills, says Dr. Lynn Murchison, director of the PACE program.

"We are using a very heavy writing component," Dr. Murchison says, "making use of the English Department's writing lab, the MacIntosh Lab."

The PACE program is open to the 30 best-qualified students applying. Students who participate in the PACE program will receive consideration for admittance to the university's honors program as freshmen.

PACE scholarships are available to cover tuition and fees so that student expenses are limited to room and board in the university's residence halls and classroom supplies.

Any high school student interested in the PACE program can write Dr. George Everett, Director of the Honors Program, The University of Mississippi, University, MS 38677, or phone (601) 232-7294.

USM Fine Arts sets variety events

HATTIESBURG—The University of Southern Mississippi's College of Fine Arts will present a variety of entertaining events on the USM campus during December through its School of Music and its Departments of Theatre and Dance and Art.

USM's Horn Quartet will give an afternoon performance Dec. 4 at 4 p.m. in Marsh Auditorium.

A showcase of the talents of junior and senior dance majors also will be presented Dec. 4 at 8 p.m. in the PAC during the Department of Theatre and Dance's annual Young Choreographers' Concert.

On Dec. 5, USM's annual Carol Concert will be presented at 8 p.m. in the PAC.

A piano recital by Dr. Lois Leventhal will be presented Dec. 6 at 2:30 p.m. in Marsh Auditorium.

The USM College of Fine Arts December presentations will end with a Dec. 7 Fall Oratorio Chorus Concert at 8 p.m. in the PAC.

For information about the December offerings of USM's College of Fine Arts, call (601) 266-4884.

University Museums announces winner of Portfolio Day

UNIVERSITY, Miss.—Greg Derrick of Clinton, a senior at Clinton High School, won a $500 art scholarship to The University of Mississippi for entering the best portfolio in the University Museums' free, statewide Portfolio Day.

Three members of the art faculty—Jere Allen, Ron Dale and Paula Temple—selected the 17-year-old artist's entry from 20 students' portfolios. More than 40 students and teachers from high schools throughout Mississippi attended the event, which included informal lectures and tours of the University Museums and the Department of Art.

His work is featured in the University Museums' statewide juried art exhibition. The 104 works on display were selected from the more than 250 entries submitted. The free exhibition will be on display through Jan. 5, and the winners and exhibitors will be honored at a free public reception 2-4 p.m. Saturday, Dec. 5. Derrick's acrylic painting

"M.C.'s Province Chapel" can only be viewed through Dec. 20 because he has entered the painting in the National Scholastic Art Competition slated for later this year.

BELLE OF THE BAY & BEAU OF THE BAY BEAUTY PAGEANT will be held Dec. 19, at the Hancock County Fairgrounds at 5:00 p.m. All ages are invited to enter.
Call Gail Pace at 452-3681 for entry forms.

Could you have hidden distortions the naked eye can't see? With Contour Analysis, chiropractors are able to detect even slight distortions or problems in the structure of the spine. By photographing the body in various positions (contourography), your chiropractor is able to see abnormal changes in contour patterns which may indicate hidden spinal problems. What you don't see can hurt you. If you've been experiencing back pain, neck pain, or shoulder pain, call us TODAY for a chiropractic checkup with a Contour Analysis.

Safety, flexibility important for toys

By Norine Barnes
Child and Family Living Specialist
Mississippi Cooperative Extension Service

When choosing toys for young children, consider the safety and flexibility of toys.

Ask questions such as: How would playing with this item benefit the child? Would the toy develop large and/or small muscle control, encourage dramatic (role) play, teach problem solving skills, stimulate creativity, develop rhythm and timing, improve eye-hand coordination, etc.?

Play is the work of children and toys are the tools of play. Just as adult jobs are made easier by the proper tools, children grow and develop aided by the right toys. The best children's tools promote imaginative, creative, and spontaneous fun.

The more structured a toy, the less likely it is to fulfill any of these criteria. In fact, a cardboard box may be the best toy for a young child. A box has many possibilities as the child says, "let's play like it's" a car, house, canoe, store, train, cave or caravan. The readymade toys purchased for Christmas giving should have the same flexibility and ability to stimulate a child's mind.

Safety is also an important consideration in selection. It is tragic when a toy meant to bring happiness injures a child. Think about the age and size of the child, ability and play area. The ages of other children in the family is a factor, since in most homes, brothers and sisters have some access to all the toys. A toy that is safe for one child may be dangerous in the hands of an unsupervised and less skillful younger sibling.

Reject toys with obvious hazards such as sharp points; rough or unfinished surfaces; small, detachable parts that may be swallowed; brittle plastic that breaks easily and leaves sharp edges; toys with triggers, gears, or other parts activated by a spring or motor that may pinch fingers or catch hair; and propelled objects.

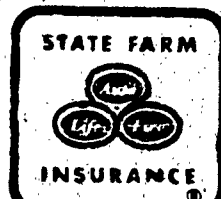

A young child grows emotionally, intellectually, socially and physically through play. Help make playland safe and productive through careful selection of toys this Christmas.

We'll be back.

If Susan and I had the chance to meet with you when we were here last week, let me say thanks for taking the time to get to know us a little bit better.

If we didn't have the chance to meet, I know we'll have that opportunity soon.

We plan to be back throughout the campaign.

What's more, once you send me to the Senate, I'll be back regularly for town meetings—just like the more than 360 town meetings I've held in Southwest Mississippi in the six years I've served in Congress.

Susan and I will be back, and we look forward to meeting with you soon.

You see, we know that in order to serve you well in the United States Senate, we have to know what's on your mind.

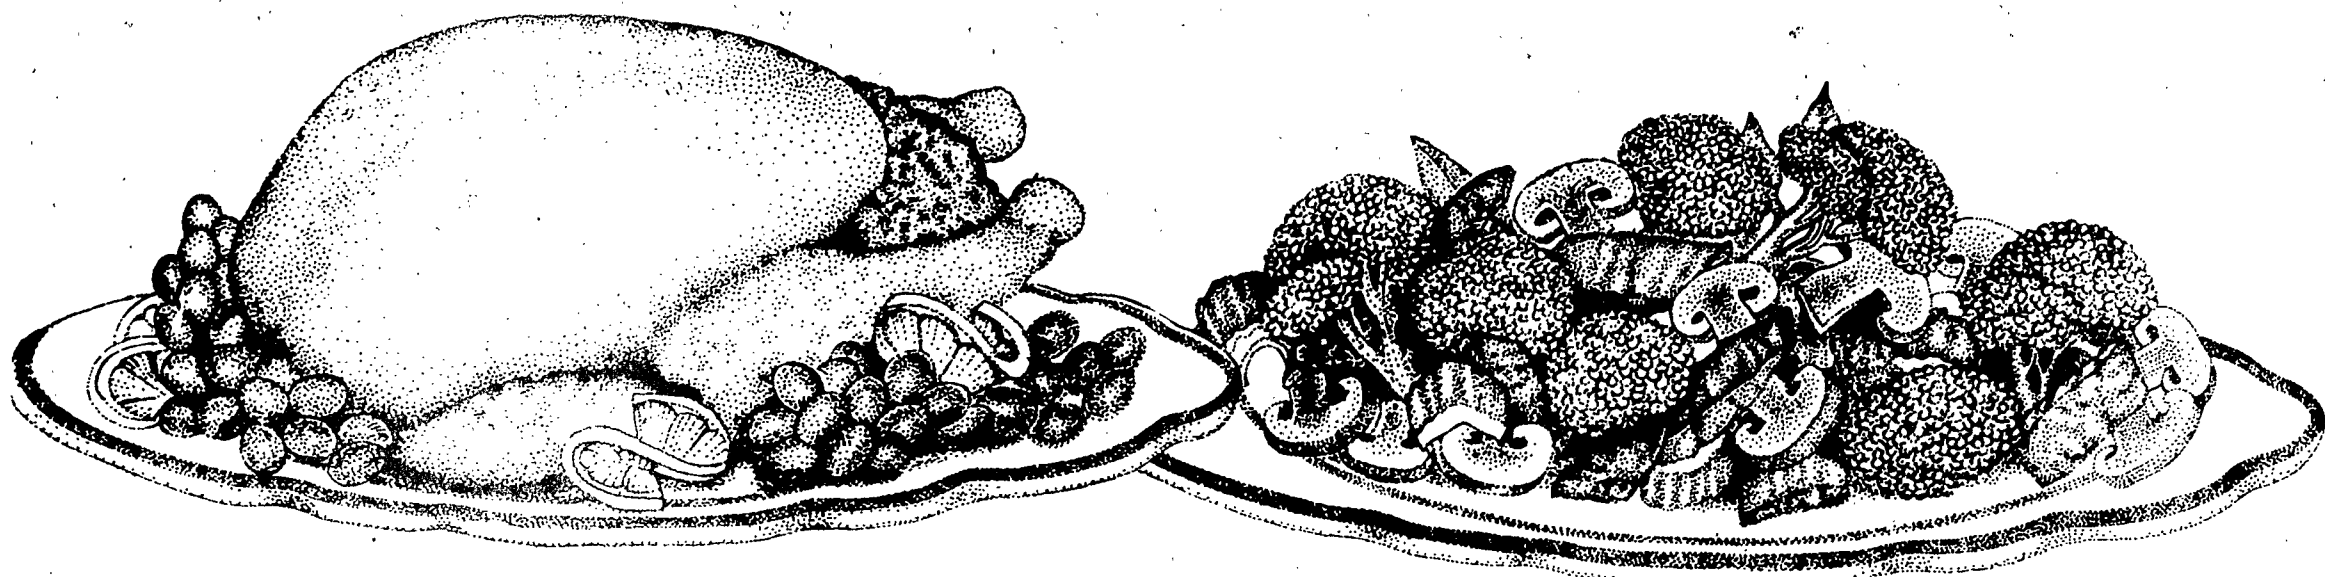

Thanks.
